DMSBT offers instructor led courses for Google Search, Google Maps, Google Apps and Google Analytics. Each course is tailored to the needs of the audience and addresses the attendee requirements.

Our instructors are Certified Google Enterprise Professionals, experienced in leading user, developer & administrator training sessions, including real-world implementations, not just class-room scenarios.

DMSBT also builds training portals to provide users with access to training materials so they can learn at their own pace, and collaborate and share knowledge. Training can be conducted at our premises or at a location of your choice. We will also provide access to the relevant Google technology for practical demonstration purposes during the training whilst delivering comprehensive knowledge transfer to your team.

The DMSBT Learning Cube

The DMSBT Training program

Leveraging the vast experience of our instructors, we offer two unique streams of training. Firstly, our technical training which covers the administrator and developer programs at a Basic and Advanced level.

Secondly, our user driven education program directed towards each and every employee in your organisation. There are two levels offered, Standard User and Power User.

After completing one of the Basic programs, each attendee will be able to understand the Google Enterprise interface for the relevant technology. In essence the attendee will be able to deliver a simple and effective production solution.

The Advanced courses take the attendee to the next level. These programs are designed to enable the administrators and developers to fully leverage the power of the Google Enterprise technology. We understand that each client has differing needs and we will tailor the course to suit your requirements and environment.

Any new application roll out can fail if your users are not informed or trained. Our Standard User training is designed to work along side your resident experts to help deliver a comprehensive and easy to understand learning environment.

Every organisation has advanced users that really push the boundaries of any technology. Our Power User training packages are designed with these skilled users in mind. We will work closely with the group to ensure they receive a superior user experience. We find that these sessions provide feature enhancements for your next deployment.

Each element of the DMSBT training offering provides your organisation a significant knowledge boost inline with our DMSBT learning cube philosophy.
